For years, Amber Ridinger-McLaughlin managed her own skin conditions by using countless costly crèmes, but only experienced marginal results at best. She realized the revitalization of her youthful skin could only occur if she developed the next generation of skincare products herself.

After working closely with beauty scientists and exploring the most advanced ingredients derived from the earth and sea, Amber created this extraordinary line. Lumière de Vie® is in a category all its own yet is more affordable than competing brands. These products are designed to promote the natural healing process to rejuvenate all skin types and complexions. The result: rejuvenated, luminous, beautiful-looking skin.
